December was a positive month for financial markets: European credit markets were positive (H9PC Index +1.10%), and equity markets were positive both in Europe (Eurostoxx 50 +1.12%) and in US (S&P 500 +2.86%). The month started with US Manufacturing ISM still below 50 (48.1), while the PMI was better than expected at 52.6; labor market confirmed its resiliency with strong change in nonfarm payrolls figures and unemployment rate at 3.5%. Due to the US data strenght, the FED left rates unchanged at 1.62%, with dots signaling no rate change for 2020. Christine Lagarde took her first press conference after the ECB meeting: the event did not give significant information, and markets are still trying to understand how the ECB will move in the next months (maybe more QE). On the data side, PMI composite release at 50.6 was consistent with a 0.9% growth in 4Q19, (expectation for 2020 growth is 1%), while manufacturing sector remains the weak spot of the economy (PMI at 46.9). One significant movement in monetary policy had been taken by Riksbank (the Swedish central bank): it ended its era of negative rates amid growing concerns that “the behavior of economic agents may change and negative effects may arise”. German 10 years Bund closed the month at -0.19% (+17bps during the month) in tandem with 10 Years Treasury +1.92% (+14bps during the month). Markets bullish sentiment was due to optimism regarding the US-China negotiations progress on a potential deal, further supported by a clear victory of Boris Johnson in the UK general election that should accelerate the Brexit process. Emerging markets reported a positive performance (+1.70%) with LATAM being the best performer during the month. Oil was up 5.72% in the month, closing at 66.00 USD per barrel.

Yield-type strategy

The bucket generated a positive gross contribution to the monthly performance, with 98% of the positions (98 out of 100) contributing positively. Positive contributions were homogeneously distributed, while there were not significant negative contributions. The average life of the yield-type portfolio is very short (9 months or average spread duration of 0.75), combined with a yield of 1.80% (net of funding cost in EUR) and z-spread of 294 basis points. The fund is levered, being invested at about 128% currently.
