During November, European credit markets experienced a negative performance (H9PC Index -0.52%), in tandem with the movement of the Eurostoxx 50 (-4.41%) and S&P 500 (-0.83%). Last days of the month saw an increased level of volatility due to surging COVID-19 cases linked to Omicron variant: several countries imposed tighter quarantine measures and fresh restrictions on travels, with Austria declaring three weeks of lockdown in addition to mandatory vaccination in order to ease pressure on hospitals. The economic surprise index in US turned positive in November, thanks in particular to strong retail sales and industrial production release, while in Europe the surprise index just recovered to parity due to new restrictions' impact on economic activity. During its meeting at the beginning of the month the FED announced that it will begin scaling back bond buying starting from mid-November; Joe Biden named Jerome Powell for a second term as FED chair: during his testimony at the Congress Powell signaled that "economy is very strong and inflation pressures are high" signaling that taper could run faster than initially declared. Inflation in Germany printed highest level since 1992 at 5.2%, but ECB continued reassuring investors that price increase will be only transitory. In this context, the 10 years bund yield was lower at -0.35% (-24bps in the month), in tandem with the 10 years Treasury at 1.44% (-11bps in the month). In China there were signs of relaxation to the real estate sector: mortgages and loans to developer strongly increased in October, while PBOC indicated that it could relax three red lines rules applied to sovereign owned properties developers to take over assets of most indebted entities; volatility will continue to affect the sector but we think higher quality names will be able to manage the situation properly.
