October was another volatile month for markets. European credit markets were negative (H9PC Index -0.86%), likewise equity markets, with Eurostoxx 50 and S&P 500 losing respectively 5.93% and 4.41% (first negative month for US stocks since March 2018). The minutes of the FOMC meeting disclosed that several members would raise rates to restrictive territory, with markets pricing slightly more than three hikes until December 2019; economic data showed that US exceptionalism could have reached its peak, notwithstanding Q3 GDP beat consensus at +3.5%. December rate hike is very likely (84% probability), while much more uncertain is how US and China relations will evolve: during the month president Trump reiterated his hard stance in the trade dispute, but at the same time he looked for a possible meeting with Xi at G-20 summit in late November. In the Euro area, weakness in recent data did not influence the tone used by Draghi during the last meeting: he affirmed that recent slowdown was mainly due to specific factors, with improvement in underlying factors still positive and broad based. Yield on 10 Years German Bund went under pressure (-9bps at 0.39%) due to the conflict between Italy and EU commission, with the latter asking to review financial bill proposed by the “populist” government. Emerging markets reported a negative performance, with mixed contribution: both Latam and Ceemea regions registered a slightly positive performance, thanks respectively to Bolsonaro victory in Brazil and recovery in Turkey, while Asia was negative due to continuous headlines on Trade War.

Yield-type strategy

The bucket generated a positive gross contribution to the monthly performance, with 83% of the positions (70 out of 84) contributing positively. Positive contributions were homogeneously distributed, while there were not significant negative contributions. The average life of the yield-type portfolio is very short (8 months or average spread duration of 0.67), combined with a yield of 4.37% (net of funding cost) and z-spread of 541 basis points. The fund is levered, being invested at about 166% currently.
