Credit markets remained extremely negative with year to date performances ranging from -14.15% for EM corp HY to -8.36% of the EU HY component in tandem with the movement of the Eurostoxx 50 (-19.62% YTD) and S&P 500 (-20.57% YTD). The IG EUR market is also negative by -12.19% YTD, mainly due to the rates component. The short-term (1-3 year) H1WN global HY index also reports a performance of -12.29% YTD while the Global unconstrained (in terms of maturity) HY lost -15.79%. Hostilities between Russia and Ukraine continued on the ground, while there were no signs of de-escalation on the diplomacy side, with NATO broadening its influence to Finland and Sweden. Inflation and possible recession remained the main topics influencing markets: US consumer prices remained at four decades high of 8.6% (core at 6.0%, slightly below previous print), with Powell confirming that FED will fight inflation and that "the process is highly likely to involve some pain". ECB surprised markets with its hawkish message, signaling a 25bps hike in July, that will be followed by a further 50bps hike in September. Also the SNB raised rates by 50bps for the first time in 15 years, leaving Japan the only DM central bank not yet moving. In this context, the 10 years bund yield was higher at +1.34% (+22bps in the month, highest level since 2014) while the 10 years Treasury closed the month at 3.01% (+17bps). Oil price corrected lower, with Brent now at 114.8$ per barrel, still well supported by supply concerns that exceed fear of an imminent recession. Thanks to recent volatility spike we have been able to add several new credit stories at very interesting level of credit spreads. The new entries are companies with good credit metrics that were too tight before sell-off. The combination of higher diversification, higher credit quality and higher expected yields paves the way for attractive returns in the next future.

Yield-type strategy

The bucket generated a gross negative contribution to the monthly performance, with 27% of the positions (22 out of 82) contributing positively. The YTM remains attractive and conditions are always interesting in the short-term part of the credit curve. The average life of the yield-type portfolio is very short (14 months or 1.13 of spread duration), combined with a gross yield of 7.37% (in EUR) and z-spread of 697 basis points.
