Credit markets remained extremely negative with year to date performances ranging from -23.02% for EM corp HY to -15.32% of the EU HY. The IG EUR market is also negative by -15.07% YTD, mainly due to the rates component. The short-term (1-3 year) H1WN global HY index also reports a performance of -12.86% YTD while the Global unconstrained (in terms of maturity) HY lost -17.19%. Inflation continued its march higher around the globe with US core CPI printing 6.3% YoY (6.1% expected) in tandem with Eurozone that exceeded expectations by 0.2% at 4.3% YoY. Faced with faster than expected rise in prices, central bankers further tightened their position against inflation: FED raised rates by 75bps for the time in a row, reinforcing its commitment to "higher for longer" rates, clearly flagging its intention to keep monetary policy tight. ECB raised its main rate by 75bps, with Christine Lagarde saying that investors should not assume moves on this scale were "the norm", but there would be "several" rate rises in the coming months. The tension between Russia and Nato members further increased after the sabotage of both Nordstream 1 and 2, while Russia declared annexation of four Ukrainian regions. The 10 years bund yield was higher at +1.54% (+72bps in the month) while the 10 years Treasury closed the month at 3.20% (+54bps). Huge volatility was registered on UK Gilt market, where BOE was forced to intervene to avoid a "material risk to UK financial stability" after that Liz Truss' government announced a fiscal plan that caused a spike of the 30 years yield to 5%. Thanks to recent volatility spike we have been able to add several new credit stories at very interesting level of credit spreads. The combination of higher diversification, higher credit quality and higher expected yields paves the way for attractive returns in the next future.

Yield-type strategy

The bucket generated a negative gross contribution to the monthly performance, with 34% of the positions (60 out of 174) contributing positively. During the month we increased our invested capital: conditions remain attractive in the short-term part of the credit curve. The average life of the yield-type portfolio is very short (13 months or average spread duration of 1.09), combined with a yield of 16.48% (net of funding cost in EUR) and z-spread of 1477 basis points. The fund is levered, being invested at about 235% currently.
